Miss Ohapman occupied the first period. She gave lessons in drawing. She emphasized what she had mentioned in the previous lesson; i. e., that something good could be found in the crudest aketch. The child will thus be encouraged to do better work. Drawing different sketches on the blackboard, she showed the development from the crudest drawing to the finished sketch. She next placed severus aketches on the board, the teachers copying on paper. A great interest was taken in the entire lesson. She gave an outlane of what should be a year's work in drawing. Mise Chapman said a few words of good-bye, as this was her last talk. She goes away with the well wishes of every teacher and she will be welcomed back whenever she may come.

A short recess was had. "West Virginia Hills" was sung, after which Dr. Gordy continued the subject of history. He spoke on "What first brought about the protective system in America." In 1807 the embargo laws, for which Thos.

He spoke on "What first brought about the protective system in America." In 1807 the embargo laws, for which Thos. Jefferson was responsible, changed entrely the economic policy of this country. They acted as a Chinese wall sround our country so that manufactured articles could not come to us; so that we were forced to do our own manufacturing. Woosen mails sprung up all over the country, and the manufacture of iron recived an impetus never had before. When the war of 1812 was over, Lord Brougham said in parliament that it would be to the interest of England to send goods to America and sell them below cost, in order to strangle the infant industries in that country. They slooded this country with English them below cost, in order to strangie the infant industries in that country. They flooded this country with English goods and sold them lower than they could be manufactured.

In 1816 the first protective tariff law was passed. A duty was laid on all goods coming into this country.

In 1819 there was a radical change in the minds of the people on the subject of protection. At this time there was a great financial crisis and the people began to look for the cause. They at once apiled the motto, "Post hoc, ergo propter hoc," I, e., after this, therefore on account of this. He said that during the war of 1812 England built a Chinese wall around the United States except New England, leaving nothing, but paper money in the rest of the country. Banks sprung up as over the country. Hanks sprung up as over the country with no capital to back them, and in 1819 there came a collapse which was bound to happen. Much money caused high prices. In 1814-15-16-17-18, men went heavily in debt in dollars worth thirty cents, and in 1819, when specle payment was suspended, the debts could not be paid in 100 cent dollars—hence the crush.

The doctor, in his take, said that the money standard could not be tampered with. It never had been tampered with without fatas result. We cannot monkey with any standard without a loss to it. If we monkey with the pedagogical standard, education suffers. If we monkey with the standard of good clizenship, the nation suffers. We have a wrong idea of greatness in our country. We should remember that bigness is not greatness. We must have charity for each other. We must have charity for each other we suse of the word. The doctor's closing words were very particule and were received amid applause.

The usual vote of thanks was offered and a motion was unanimously passed that it was the sense of the teachers of Wheeling that a director of drawing is necessary for the full success of our schools.

You need a doctor many times when you don't call one. You suffer pain in fifty forms and yet won't call the doctor, because you hope that the pain "will go away after a while." And, too, you know by experience, that that first visit of the doctor is generally followed by many others, with the inevitable consequence of a big bill "for professional services." You don't know what to do for yourself or what to take.

City, Kan.: Pligrimages to some shrine of St. Vitus, to cure the disease known as St. Vitus' dance are no longer made. The modern way of treating this affliction is within reach of every household, as is shown by the experience of Kari A. Wagner, the eleven-year-old son of George Wagner, of 515 Ninth street, Arkansus City, Kan. The father tells the started in a very humble way, but step kansas City, Kan. The father tells the story as follows:
"Over a year ago," hesays, "Karl was taken with St. Vitus" dance and continued to grow worse during five months he was under a physician's care. His tongue became puralysed and we could not understand a word he said. He became very thin, lost the use of his right leg, and seemed doomed to become a hopeiess invalid. We had about given up hope when Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People were recommended to my wife by a lady whose daughter had been cured of a similar affliction by the pilks. ginians, who have put energy, thrift and until they are no longer regarded as disappeared.

That was six months ago and there has been no return of the disease. The cure was offectual and permanent, and I feel satisfied that no other medicine could have produced so narveious a result. We feel rejoiced over the restoration of our son, and cannot help but feet that Dr. Williams Pink Pills for Pale People are the most remarkable medicine on the market?

No discovery of modern times has proved such a biessing to makind as Dr. Williams Pink Pills for Pale People, and the provided of the provided and nerves, invigorating the body, regulating the functions, they restore the strength and health in the exhausted patient when every effort of the physician proves unwaiting.
